Background

Bryony came to the Bar as an experienced advocate, having practiced as a solicitor advocate for a number of years at Victoria Legal Aid. Bryony was formerly Associate to the Hon Justice Quigley at the Supreme Court of Victoria, during her Honour's tenure as President of the Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal. She started her career as a Trainee Lawyer at Fitzroy Legal Service.

Immediately prior to joining the Bar, Bryony was a Criminal Division Lawyer at the County Court of Victoria, where she worked exclusively in indictable crime. In this role Bryony was responsible for the management of a large number of complex criminal trials across the State, including those involving sexual offences, white collar crime, personal and family violence, drugs, property offences and serious driving offences.

Bryony is on the Victorian Bar's New Barristers Committee and is a mentor for Women in Crime.

Bryony is reading with Diana Price and her Senior Mentor is Emrys Nekvapil SC.
